WORLD-FAMOUS MATCH RACE BETWEEN THE FIAT AND BENZ SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 15.

Information Just Received That Contract Has Been Signed for Big Event.

As the Daily News goes to press definite information has been received that the world-famous match race between Barney Oldfield with his Fiat, and Ralph DePalma with the Benz, has been arranged by and the contracts signed.

The event, however, will occur on March 15, a few days ahead of the speed carnival of March 22, 23 and 24.

Chairman Butler, of the A. A. A. racing board also writes that the sanction has been extended to cover that date.

The Benz racer arrived at DeLand yesterday but it was thought best not to tow it to Daytona until the mud dries up. It is now at R. M. Bond's garage at DeLand.

Oldfield left Hot Springs, Ark., this morning and will arrive here Sunday.

Contributions for the big automobile speed carnival of March 22, 23 and 24, are due and checks should be sent to T. E. Fitzgerald, secretary, at once. About $300 is still needed above the amount already subscribed.

TRAVELOGUE BY LINCOLN
NEXT MONDAY EVENING.

Burrick Lincoln, world famous mountaineer and traveler, who is on tour of the great hotels under the auspices of the Florida East Coast Co., has been persuaded to fill a Daytona engagement at the Opera House Monday night, giving his travelogue, "Alaska, the Land of the Midnight Sun." This is one of his finest programs, and after his presentation at the Royal Poinciana, Palm Beach, the audience so appreciated his splendid entertainment that they voted him thanks by acclamation.

Mr. Lincoln's travelogue is illustrated by several hundred beautiful colored views, each a masterpiece, by the renowned artist, James Paris, and which are projected on a large screen by an absolutely perfect apparatus.

Many marvelous motion pictures supplement the travelogue and add greatly to its beauty and charm.

Mr. Lincoln seldom plays in any but the largest hotels and auditoriums of the country, and then at a price of two dollars, but owing to the surprise of our opera house managers, he has consented to place the admission price at fifty cents.

The coming of such a man as Mr. Lincoln should prove a great event to the town and hearty co-operation is certainly his due.

SENATOR SAMS ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT AS SENATOR.

THANKS THE PEOPLE OF VOLUSIA COUNTY FOR THRICE HONORING HIM WITH OFFICE.

Senator Frank W. Sams, of New Smyrna today issues the following statement, which will be of general interest:

To the People of Volusia County:
As many inquiries have been made of me as to whether or not I was a candidate for re-election to the Senate, I avail myself of the courtesy of the county papers to answer them. While fully appreciating the honor and dignity of the position I am not and will not be a candidate. During my term of service, the records will show that I represented you and subserved your interests to the best of my ability. Having sought and received your support three times, I am under lasting obligations to you. I value most highly your support and confidence, and will ever be grateful for the honor you have conferred upon me. I remain,
Gratefully and Respectfully Yours
FRANK W. SAMS.

AUTO PARTY HAD A VERY PLEASANT TRIP TO NASHUA

John Henrick returned Wednesday afternoon from Nashua where he had accompanied Byron Stewart in his Buick car. Mr. Henrick and Gilman Davis another member of the party, came back by boat to Palatka and thence by train. Mr. Davis continued to Palm Beach, to return with his wife and Mrs. Henrick, who had gone there for a few days visit.

Mr. Henrick says the roads were very good as far as Crescent City, but beyond that the main road was quite sandy although there were better woods roads they could have used had they been more familiar with the country.

Mr. Stewart and Morgan Robinson will return with the auto after a few days' visit with Mr. Stewart's friend at Nashua.

ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT AT THE IVY LANE INN.

The entertainment to be given tonight at the Ivy Lane Inn for the benefit of the Library Fund, promises to prove one of the most enjoyable events of the season. The program is a most diversified one, consisting of recitations, impersonations, stories and both vocal and instrumental music. Admission is free, but a collection will be taken up at the close of the entertainment, and as the object is a worthy one, a very substantial sum should be realized. The guests of all the hotels, as well as the residents of Daytona are cordially invited to be present, and judging from the large number who have signified their intention to be present, the Ivy Lane Inn will be crowded.

ITCHING ECZEMA WASHED AWAY.

Is it worth 25 cents to stop that awful agonizing itch? Surely you will spend 25 cents on your druggist's recommendation, to cool and heal and soothe that terrible itching eruption? By arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, we are able to make a special offer of a 25 cent bottle of their oil of wintergreen compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription. Call, or write or telephone to Hankins' Drug Store.

We absolutely know that the itch is stopped at once by D. D. D. Prescription and the cures all seem to be permanent.

ZANONI ENTERTAINMENT

POSTPONED TO TONIGHT.

ON ACCOUNT OF BAD WEATHER
LAST NIGHT THE GREAT PSYCHOLOGIST WILL APPEAR TONIGHT.

Quite a large crowd of citizens and tourists assembled at the Opera House last night to see and hear the greatest of all psychological demonstrators, Signor Zanoni, but because of the bad weather the management of the Opera House decided to postpone the engagement until tonight, so that everybody would have a chance of seeing this wonderful man.

Professor Zanoni has puzzled thousands and has baffled the Scientific World with his demonstrations of thought transmission and concentration of mind. He will demonstrate how the thought waves of one human being may dominate the movements of another.

The professor under hypnotic influence leads his subjective mind to be directed by anybody's objective mind, both of them forming one.

All the young ladies and gentlemen who are in love and really wish to know the truth, whether he or she loves you, come to Zanoni tonight and he will tell you.

Both of Signor Zanoni's predecessors, the famous Fabian and Washington Irving Bishop, died in early youth, but he still lives, and shows something marvelous each day of his life, and he is the real discoverer of the Fountain of Youth.

Among his numerous demonstrations he does Washington Irving Bishop's Death Test. A committee selected by the audience hides a book at some place. It also selects a particular page in that book and a line on that page, a word on that line and a letter in that word before hiding the book. All this is done in Zanoni's absence. When Zanoni appears he is blindfolded, and instantly finds the book and places a pin on the letter of the word on the line of the page in the book selected by the committee.

YOUNG MAN OF SEVENTY-NINE OFFERS WALKING CHALLENGE

Charles Lott, who has been previously mentioned for his ability as a pedestrian, recently completed a record of seven days' walk on the beach and writes from DeLand regarding it, as follows:

DeLand, Fla., Mar. 1, 1910
Editor Daily News: I finished up yesterday, my seven days, or one week, walk on the beach. If any of the boys over seventy years of age can do better, I will try it again. Below is my record for each day, and its footing up gives me the credit of 189 miles in the seven days. Not very bad for a boy in his eightieth year and in perfect health.

January 1 — 30 miles
January 2 — 31 miles
January 3 — 16½ miles
January 4 — 25½ miles
January 5 — 28 miles
February 26 — 29 miles
February 28 — 20 miles.
Total 180 miles
Very Truly Yours, CHAS. LOTT.

A STRENUOUS YEAR FOR

PRESIDENT WM. H. TAFT.

PRESIDENT TAFT HAS BEEN A VERY BUSY MAN THE PAST YEAR.

WASHINGTON, March 3 — Today, the last day of the first year of President Taft's regime, shows a record of 20,638 miles traveled by rail and 5,000 by automobile. He visited thirty states and two territories, made 348 speeches, appointed 6,917 federal officers and sent eighteen messages to congress. He lost seven pounds during the year and now weighs 319.

During the year he secured the enactment of a new tariff law, took initial steps in the prosecution of the beef trust, unearthed customs frauds in New York, discharged three federal officers, instigated an enquiry into the high cost of living, forced the abdication of Nicaraguan President Zelaya and shook hands with President Diaz on Mexican soil.

ILLINOIS DAY CELEBRATED AT DAYTONA BEACH.

Illinois Day was celebrated at the Beach House, home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Harroun, at Daytona Beach, Wednesday, March 2, under favorable weather conditions. A large number were out to enjoy the sociability of the occasion and make the best of the opportunity to exploit the greatness of their state.

The house was beautifully decorated in bunting and flags, with numerous foliage plants and flowers artistically arranged to brighten the general effect.

The first business on arrival was to register and get ticketed, after which was the renewing of former acquaintances and the introduction to new friends. One hundred and fifteen guests were registered. By this time the dinner hour was close at hand. The committee had arranged for the spread of the luncheon on two tables, each forty feet long, set in the new garage building, which had never been used and was sweet with the odor of pine wood. Ample justice was done to the generous provisions made for dinner by the company present.

After dinner came speeches and music. The program was opened by a piano solo by Miss Atkinson. Mrs. Gage gave two enjoyable recitations. "The Doughnuts My Mother Used to Make," and "The Trials of the Inventor's Wife." The company then sang a number of patriotic songs, "Illinois," "Star Spangled Banner," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," etc. Then came the speakers of the afternoon: H. G. Calkins, J. G. Brown, Rev. Dana Sherrill, Edmund Miller and Mr. Hamilton, all of whom dwelt on the greatness of the state from many points of view, and were generously applauded by their listeners. The pleasant program was concluded with "Auld Lang Syne," Miss Helen Knox was piano accompanist of the afternoon. After the song and handshaking, the local artist photographed the group which thereafter dispersed with mutual good-will and pleasant impressions of the day.

HOUSEBOAT "HARMONY HALL" IS HEADED THIS WAY.

ALLENHURST, Fla., March 2 — The houseboat, Harmony Hall, passed through the canal today, north bound.

DAYTONA IS GETTING LOTS OF PUBLICITY.

SPEED CARNIVAL BEING TALKED AND PRINTED ABOUT ALL OVER THE CIVILIZED WORLD—A BIG EVENT.

For the first time in the history of automobile racing on the Daytona Beach, Daytona is getting the publicity and credit for being the hub of activities of the winter speed classic.

In years gone by Ormond either got all the credit for pulling off the greatest speed carnival of the sport, or shared with Daytona, the honor and publicity, and even in the latter case, Daytona's share was most meagre.

While Mr. Morgan made every effort to induce owners of noted cars and their drivers to come to the beach each year, and to this gentleman must go a lot of credit for keeping interest alive at both ends there never was a general publicity crusade conducted in connection with any local meet which was calculated to boom Daytona. Every thing was figured to bring drivers and cars here, and that was the extent of Mr. Morgan's agreement and its fulfillment.

With this in mind, Secretary Fitzgerald and the officers of the Florida East Coast Automobile Association, decided that things would be different this year. A list of over four hundred prominent newspapers all over the country was made up, and relations established with the Associated and United Press associations.

Twice each week good live news stories concerning the 1910 Daytona beach speed carnival are sent to these papers. Always some reference is added about favorable weather conditions here; something to suggest to the snow bound northerner that in Daytona the sun is ever shining and the temperature warm.

And the papers are printing this news matter too. And "Daytona" is getting the mention in the headlines. Since the first announcement of the meet, requests have been pouring in from automobile clubs, individuals and newspapers for all sorts of information regarding the dates and details.

A handsome full sheet illustrated poster has been issued and has been sent all over the country to be posted in garages, railroad offices and stations and in hotels and other public places. Five thousand of these were printed in New York, three thousand being given the different railways for distribution in their channels, and the others were mailed and expressed in all directions. Daytona and its business interests are going to receive greater benefit in advertising this city than ever before. It is the one aim of the racing committee and club officials to show the subscribers to the racing fund that they are getting good dollars and cents returns for their money, and that good business judgment and not merely civic pride should prompt such contributions in the future.

And as for the races—well, after they are over this year just see if they are not about the best ever pulled off on the historic speed battle ground.

The racing posters wrapped ready for mailing will be furnished without charge upon application to the Conrad-Oates office on Beach street.

CITY TAKING TOLL OF BICYCLE RIDERS TO IMPROVE STREETS

Mayor Greene was kept busy this morning receiving donations for the city from the bicycle riders arrested by the marshal yesterday for riding on the sidewalks. They paid the usual fine of $2.00 and costs, amounting to $3.00, except in case of feminine offenders, who were let off with a somewhat lighter fine.

MANY ARRESTS FOR RIDING ON SIDEWALK.

MARSHAL PICKED UP NEARLY A DOZEN BICYCLISTS FOR VIOLATION OF THE ORDINANCE.

Marshal Myers made eleven arrests yesterday of bicycle riders who were violating the ordinance in regard to riding upon the sidewalks and notified them to appear before the mayor this morning for trial.

Most of the arrests were made in the neighborhood of Ridgewood and Second avenues and included three white women, a colored woman and one colored man, the rest being white men.

The violation of this ordinance has been growing more and more frequent and the Marshal says that he finds merely notifying people of the ordinance is of no avail and only subjects him to criticism as being "easy," and he now intends to strictly enforce the ordinance and also that requiring the carrying of lights by bicyclists, as well as the automobile rules.

The frightful condition of the city streets after every rain seems excuse to many for riding upon the sidewalks but they should disabuse themselves of any such idea. The law should be observed.

Wheelmen are certainly having difficulties in Daytona at the present time, with the sea of mud that confronts them after every shower of rain and the grudging way in which they are treated by the drivers of many automobiles and other vehicles upon the streets. Yet there is probably no city in the country of its size where so many bicycles are in use.

The bicycle is an acknowledged vehicle with certain defined rights upon the streets, yet the riders are being crowded to the wall by owners and drivers of heavier vehicles and the frequently undesirable condition of the city's streets. They are certainly entitled to due consideration by the city in the use of those streets and should unite and urge the authorities to place the streets in better condition.

FORMER RESIDENT NOW IN CITY FROM JACKSONVILLE

R. Jarco, a relative of W. F. Holmes, and for some time a resident with him of this city, is in Daytona for a few days, from Jacksonville on business.

Mr. Jarco is now connected with Mr. Holmes in the manufacture of furniture from Palmetto wood. Mr. Holmes having formed a company, entitled the Palmetto Art Furniture Co., with headquarters at Jacksonville for this purpose.

Handsome articles of furniture are turned out, the wood being hardened and made durable by a special process to which it is subjected.

The company has also recently taken up the manufacture of brooms from some species of rush-like cane that was introduced into this country from Europe years ago and now grows abundantly here.

DAYTONA BEACH are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds new friends every year among who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin.
For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach, these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours
it is entirely rebuilt by the tides.
The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E.
Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated.
The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of bloom both summer and winter.

Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida
East Coast Automobile Association.
The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is lined summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

By L. C. DEMAREE.
One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon this beautiful surface. Take out your flannel glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.
Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.
No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.
Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact is not denied.

superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,
—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Frut.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round You are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.
The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuctoo, and you will be "sho'n."
Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours.
The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down into your wallet only for coin for auto, and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite. The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels. A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised. West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years. A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

DELAND, THE ATHENS OF FLORIDA

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed. At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida." Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South. The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida. The predominant products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty. In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost. Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented. The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State. The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute. From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

FRENCH DETECTIVES.

They Are Trained For Their Duties In a Regular Police School.

In Paris aspirants for positions in the detective force are taught in a regular school, where day after day they are put through various exercises until they become proficient and receive appointments or show that they have not the detective instinct in them.

The students first are trained in the use of their eyes and their hands. One of the lessons consists in placing the pupil in a brilliantly lighted room full of furniture and ornaments. Then he is taken to another room and required to make a sketch of the room he just has left, indicating the position of all the objects in it. He is allowed to look at a face for a minute and then required to describe the color of the hair, the eyes, the general form, etc. He afterward is required to pick out a photograph of the face from among several hundred others.

In educating the hand the student is placed in a dark room in which are many curious and unusual objects. These he feels over and then writes a description of them. He must remember even the slightest details. One test is to let him handle gems in the dark and then tell what they are, whether diamonds, rubies or what not. This is, of course, an exercise for the more advanced pupils.

CHINESE PRINTING.

The Composers Are Staid and Dignified and Never Rush.

A font of type in the Chinese language requires 11,000 spaces, and in the large and spacious rack each word, instead of each letter, as in English, has a place by itself. There is also a peculiar grouping or classification of symbols into groups to further facilitate the mental labors of the typesetters. Thus in the immediate vicinity of the symbol for fish would be found the symbols of scales, net, fins, tail, gills. This simplifies the labor, which in any event must be so strenuous that it is evident that the compositor's end of the Chinese newspaper should, if perfect justice ruled, be the highest paid.

The compositor is a staid and dignified individual, and as he slowly walks from symbol to symbol, picking up those which he requires with provoking calmness, the American compositor might well wonder when the work would be completed, and to set up the type required for a small four page daily paper the constant labors of eight or nine skilled Chinamen are required for twelve or thirteen hours, the entire work in every department being the antipodes of the rush and whirl and marvelous celerity of the modern American publication.

He Obeyed Orders.

Old world domestics make the best possible servants because they work like machines, never forgetting an order and doing exactly as they are told, without presuming to think for themselves. But once in awhile this literal adherence to duty produces some awkward results. An American woman living in India, with native servants, once told her butler to see that there was always a napkin at the bottom of the fruit dish, cake basket, etc., when these were brought to the table. The napkin was thereafter always seen in its place. But one day a tureen of vegetable soup was served, and the hostess began to wield the long, old fashioned silver ladle about in it. Something very like a fringed rag made its appearance in the first plateful. The butler was summoned to remove the dish. "It cannot be that the mem sahib found no napkin at the bottom," he hazarded, much distressed because of this unexplained disapproval "for I myself placed there the largest one I could find."

Queer Goldfish.

Beautiful and most interesting of all goldfish is a native of Japan, and it is noted for the beauty of its tail and the abnormal length of its fins. The tail resembles a delicate veil, and the fins are developed to such an extent that it is impossible for the fish to make rapid progress in the water. It is therefore solely on account of its beauty that it is prized and because in this respect it differs widely from other varieties of goldfish, such as the "telescope fish," the eyes of which bulge out of the head in most unsightly fashion; the "celestial eyed fish," which is also uncommonly because its eyes are bullet shaped and are ever turned skyward, and the "egg fish," which is so called because its body is somewhat amorphous, but resembles an egg more than anything else.

A Question of Time.

"How much does it cost to get married?" asked the eager youth.
"That depends entirely on how long you live," replied the sad looking man.—Philadelphia Record.

CRAWFORD IN KILTS.

The Novelist's Remark When He Saw Himself as a Child.

One of the best known guides in the capitol at Washington used to be Colonel Jasper E. Snow, formerly a Kansas City lawyer, who always sat in Republican conventions and voted for Blaine as long as there was a Blaine to vote for.

Colonel Snow used to tell this little story of the late Marion Crawford.

He had met Mr. Crawford in Florence, Italy, and when the novelist came to Washington Colonel Snow was the first person who showed him the doors made by the novelist's father, Thomas Crawford.

These are the senate bronze doors on the eastern portico. They represent scenes connected with the Revolution and the founding of the government.

The panel representing Washington's reception at Trenton when on his way to his inauguration in New York contains among the populace portrait figures of the sculptor, his wife, his three children and Randolph Rogers, the sculptor of the main doors of the capitol.

The novelist, who had never seen the doors before, quickly identified his mother and father.

"Yes," said he, "mother used to wear her hair just like that."

Then, gazing at the largest child, a fauntleroyish figure in kilt, with long flowing hair, he added speculatively: "But I wonder if I ever really did look like that."—New York Sun.

A DUCK HARD TO KILL.

The Screaming Walloon Is Something of a Diver Too.

The screaming walloon is a hard duck to kill. Its hide is very tough and is thickly covered with feathers and down. Besides, the bird is a great diver, one of the kind that used to "dive at the flash" when hunted with the old arm that flashed when fired. It is of very little value for table use, being so tough. The only way to manage it at all is to skin it and parboil it in a big pot with plenty of water. The negroes make caps of walloon skins.

"They are great ducks for diving," says a well known Tred Avon river proger. "They can dive quicker, go down deeper, remain under water longer and come up farther away than any other duck that frequents our waters. I remember once I succeeded in killing a walloon, and, being short of game for the table, I determined to cook my bird. I got a negro to skin it, giving him the hide for his trouble. After being cleaned we put it in a great pot full of water and under it kindled a hot fire. After awhile I wanted to see how the cooking of my duck progressed and lifted the top off the boiling pot, but there was so much steam escaping I could not see into the pot and struck a match over it. The blamed walloon, sir, dived at the flash of the match. It disappeared and has never been seen since."—Baltimore Sun.

To Start a Tight Screw.

Lots of folks have tried to remove a stubborn screw from a piece of wood, a screw that won't budge at all, and have in the end given it up as a bad job. Well, if such a thing occurs again don't give it up, don't lose your temper or exert yourself, but try this recipe for removing the screw: Heat a poker red hot and then hold it against the screw head for a little while; wait a few minutes for the screw to cool down, when it will be found that the screw can be removed quite easily with the same screwdriver that just previously would not perform the work. The explanation is quite simple. The red hot poker heats the screw, and the screw expands and makes the hole it is in just a wee bit bigger. The screw then cools down and resumes its original size, leaving the hole in the wood a size too large—and there you are.—New York Sun.

Interesting For the Husband.

A titled lady warned her new gardener that her husband had an irritating habit of disparaging everything he saw in the greenhouse and of ordering in a reckless manner new plants to be bought.

"But on no account humor him," she said. "Whatever he says, throw cold water on him or he will ruin us with his extravagance."

At this point the new gardener turned on her a white and startled face. "Ma'am," he said, "if he orders me to pitch every plant in the place on the rubbish heap I shan't ever have the pluck to douse him in cold water. Won't it do as well if I get a drain of warm water out of the boiler and let it trickle gently down his neck?"—London Tit-Bits.

SPARED THE CHIEF.

Jackson Admired the Bravery of the Famous Indian.

Andrew Jackson was magnanimous in his treatment of Weathersford, the famous Creek chieftain, when that warrior surrendered. Weathersford had done all in his power to prevent the horrible massacre at Fort Mims, but most of the frontiersmen were bitter against him, and Jackson himself had sworn to put him to death if he were taken.

One day after the power of his people had been utterly broken Weathersford came riding into Jackson's camp on his famous gray horse and stopped in front of the general's tent.

"How dare you ride up to my tent after having murdered the women and children at Fort Mims?" demanded Jackson in astonishment.

The chief denied the truth of the charge, but said he: "You may kill me if you will. I come to get aid for the women and little children who are starving in the woods. If I could fight you any longer I would do so, but my warriors are all dead. Send for the women and little children. They never did you any harm. But kill me if the white people want it done."

The troops, crowding about, began to cry menacingly: "Kill him! Kill him!"

"Silence!" ordered Old Hickory sternly. "Any one who would kill as brave a man as this would rob the dead."

The general treated the chief kindly and even gave him permission if he desired to depart and continue the war. The chief afterward settled on a plantation, where he resided for many years, honored alike by white men and red.—Chicago Tribune.

SOLVING A PROBLEM.

The Green Country Brakeman Who Introduced the "Saw By."

Many years ago a green country boy applied to the superintendent of a western railway for work and, somewhat against the superintendent's wish, on account of the danger to life and limb attendant upon such occupation, was given a place as brakeman of a freight train.

On one of his first trips it happened that his train met another freight train at a station where the sidetrack was not long enough to accommodate either of them. The conductors were debating which train should back up to a point where they could pass when the new hand ventured to suggest that neither should back; that they could pass each other by means of the short sidetrack if the thing was managed right.

The idea excited a good deal of laughter on the part of the old trainmen, but the boy stood his ground.

"Well, how would you go about it?" asked one of the conductors, confident that the lad would soon find himself against a stump.

The boy took up a stick and traced in the sand a diagram to illustrate his plan.

"Good gracious!" said the conductor. "I believe that will do it!"

And it did do it. Today every trainman in America probably knows how to "saw by" two long trains on a short sidetrack, but it is not so generally known that the thing was never done until an inexperienced country boy who became the manager of a great railway line worked out the problem for himself.

A Strong Prescription.

Menslik, emperor of Abyssinia, often dabbled in medicine. Some years ago Mme. Stevenin, the wife of a prominent member of the French colony at Addis Ababa, was laid up with fever. Menslik inquired what treatment she was undergoing and expressed disapproval when he learned that she was being dosed with quinine. The following day a messenger called with a large pot of very rancid butter, accompanied by a letter from one of the emperor's secretaries stating that his royal master hoped that madame would take three glasses daily of the butter sent, which had been stored for two years and would be found an infallible remedy. The present was gratefully acknowledged and promptly buried, and when madame recovered Menslik took to himself the credit of her cure.

The White Shark.

The shark of sharks, the real "man eater" and the one most dreaded, is the white shark. This variety reaches a length of thirty-five feet and a weight of 2,000 pounds. Its head is long and flat, and the snout far overhangs the mouth. Its six rows of teeth are sharp as lancets and notched like saws. Its mouth is very large, so that one has been known to cut a man's body completely in two at a single snap of its cruel jaws and another to swallow one at a gulp. Near Calcutta one of these sharks was seen to swallow a bullock's head, horns and all. From the stomach of another a bull's hide was taken entire, and the sailor who made the discovery insisted that the bull had been swallowed whole and all except the hide had been digested. From the stomach of another was taken a lady's workbox filled with the usual contents, scissors and all. It is commonly the white shark which follows the vessel at sea day after day and week after week.

The Retort Courteous.

"Camp Meeting" John Allen was a famous Methodist preacher and revivalist of the old days down in Maine, and, like most successful pulpit orators, his sense of humor was equal to his gift of speech. It is recalled by the Boston Journal that on one occasion the old gentleman's wife was getting into a carriage, and he neglected to assist her. "You are not as gallant, John, as when you were a boy!" she exclaimed in gentle rebuke. "No," was his ready response, "and you are not as buoyant as when you were a girl!"

THE WOMAN WHO SWEARS.

The published testimony in several recent New York divorce cases leads to the conclusion that profanity is a common custom with the women of the "higher circles" of society.

Is the woman who habitually swears, whatever may be her breeding or position, entitled to the good old name of "lady?"

There are just two classes in this category, one of which is ruled out in advance—the women of the Four Hundred and the unfortunate women of the underworld.

In the time of Queen Elizabeth the court ladies practiced profanity, the example being set by the queen herself, who swore at the slightest provocation, and emphatically.

Catherine, empress of Russia, swore round oaths on occasion.

After Charles I. of England the reforms in the government brought about a purity of speech unknown to the court of the former, but when Charles II. came to the throne swearing was esteemed by the dissolute court ladies as a fine art. Moreover, it was coupled with the lewd, resulting in a foulness of speech never exceeded.

History teaches that lowering of the morals accompanies profanity of speech.

The woman of the upper circles may offer as excuse that the men of her class habitually use profane epithets, which is one count in the indictment of the upper circles.

The fact is the dissipation incident to the social lives of these people leads to a loosening of their morals, which is another count in the indictment.

No. The woman who carelessly uses oaths or takes upon her lips the name of her Creator is thereby less a woman.

It is bad enough that the men of all classes, because of habit, should employ profanity for "emphasis' sake."

But—The woman of the mansion who swears links herself with the scarlet woman of the city slums.

And is unworthy to be called a lady.

Disliked Egotism.

"What's the matter with you?" asked his wife.

"I'm feeling lonely," was the reply.

"Don't you like this town?"

"I don't like this earth."

"What's the objection to it?"

"People are too egotistical. If there's anything I hate it's egotism. And when I see kings going about confidently and doing things wrong, and diplomats trying all sorts of insincere tricks with complete effrontery, and lawyers seeking applause for arguing on the wrong side of a case, and everybody displaying utter selfishness without a blush, I am forced to the conviction that I am the only consistently moral gentleman on this globe. And it makes me feel lonely."—Exchange.

Words of the Collector.

"Did you get anything out of her?"

asked the business manager of the collector.

"Yes; she paid me a compliment.

Said she wouldn't be afraid to trust me with the money if she had it."

SAVED BY THE KING.

An Incident in the Career of Holbein, the Painter.

There happened an affair in England which might have been fatal to Holbein if the king had not protected him. On the report of his character a nobleman of the first quality wanted one day to see him when he was drawing a figure after the life. Holbein in answer begged his lordship to defer the honor of his visit to another day, which the nobleman took for an affront. He broke open the door and very rudely went upstairs. Holbein, hearing the noise, left his chamber and, meeting the lord at his door, fell into a violent passion and pushed him backward from the top of the stairs to the bottom.

Considering, however, immediately what he had done, he escaped from the tumult he had raised and made the best of his way to the king. The nobleman, much hurt, though not so much as he pretended, was there soon after him, and upon opening his grievance the king ordered Holbein to ask pardon for his offense. But this only irritated the nobleman the more, who would not be satisfied with less than his life, upon which the king sternly replied:

"My lord, you have not now to do with Holbein, but with me. Whatever punishment you may contrive by way of revenge against him shall assuredly be inflicted upon yourself. Remember, pray, my lord, that I can whenever I please make seven lords of seven plowmen, but I cannot make one Holbein even of seven lords."—"Life of Holbein."

WIDTH OF A RIVER.

A Way to Measure It Without the Use of Instruments.

It is necessary to make use only of the eyes and the brim of a hat to measure the width of any ordinary stream or even of a good sized river, and here is the way to do it:

Select a part of the river bank where the grounds run back level behind you and, standing at the water's edge, fix your eyes on the opposite bank. Now move your hat down over your brow until the edge of the brim is exactly on a line with the water line on the other side. This will give you a visual angle that may be used on any level surface, and if, as has been suggested, the ground on your side of the river be flat you may "lay off" a corresponding distance on it. To do this you have only to hold your head perfectly steady, after getting the angle with your hat brim, supporting your chin with your hand if necessary and turn slowly around until your back is toward the river. Now, take careful note of where your hat brim cuts the level surface of the ground as you look over the latter, and from where you stand to that point will be the width of the river, a distance that may readily be measured by stepping.

If you are careful in all these details you can come within a few feet of the river's width.

Short and Sweet.

Perhaps one of the shortest courtships was that of an eminent jurist. He was on his way to hold court in a town when he met a young woman returning from market.

"How deep is the creek and what did you get for your butter?" asked the judge.

"Up to the knee and ninepence," was the answer as the girl walked on.

The judge pondered over the sensible brevity of the reply, turned his horse, rode back and overtook her.

"I liked your answer just now," he said, "and I like you. I think you would make a good wife. Will you marry me?"

She looked him over and said "Yes."

"Then get up behind me, and we will ride to town and be married."

She did get up behind, and they rode to the courthouse and were made one. It is recorded that, brief though the courtship had been, the marriage proved a pre-eminently happy one.

Disguised Hands Always Bad.

"Here is a truth," says a handwriting expert, "that is as widespread as the ether: A disguised hand always tries to be poorer than the real hand. That axiom is a great help to us experts. For instance, when a letter done in a disguised hand is brought to us we always know that the writer of the letter is in a higher station than the hand would lead us to infer; hence in our detective work we are able to save much valuable time by eliminating all persons socially below the appearance of the letter and concentrating our attention on those only who are above it."

Embarrassing.

"Paw, I want to know what you think the fourth dimension is."

"It's a figure of speech, Tommy, employed to express the idea of the size to which a man feels himself shrinking when the pastor of his church happens to catch him in the act of making a quick sidestep into a saloon."—Chicago Tribune.

A Double Break.

Wife—I saw Mr. Chacer this afternoon, and he looks very bad. What's the matter with him—do you know?

Hubby—Compound fracture.

Wife—What sort of compound fracture?

Hubby—He's broke, and Miss Dougherty, discovering that fact, broke her engagement.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

He Told Her.

"What is it, do you suppose, that keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?" asked Araminta.

"I think it must be the beams," replied her husband.

SMASHED BY THE SEA

The Story of a Shipwreck in the English Channel.

FIERCE FURY OF THE STORM.

Wind and Wave Battered the Ship Till Only a Shattered Hulk Remained—A Battle Against the Elements That Ended in Defeat.

We had weathered the western islands and entered latitudes where the prudent mariner shortens sail and keeps a wary eye on the barometer. For the seafarer may talk lightly of mountainous seas off the Horn, but not of a winter gale in the mouth of the English channel when the coast is strewn with wreckage from the Lizard to Beachy and his imagination, accustomed to vast expanses of lonely sea, pictures all sorts of craft jostling one another in dangerous proximity.

A favoring gale from the northwest, not more vicious than the ordinary north Atlantic gale, had kept the ship lively all day and set all hands figuring on pay day. It was not until the afternoon watch that the weather outlook became really threatening. Mountainous walls of green water swung out of the darkness and buffeted her aside as they passed. Fierce squalls smote her in rapid succession, enveloping her in a smother of spray, heeling her until the yardarms dipped in the crests of the waves.

At eight bells the wind lulled and hauled a point to the westward, then hurled itself against the ship with accumulated fury. There was a sudden confusion of flying cordage, overwhelming seas hammering upon the decks and the cannonade of canvas stripped from the spars and blown like thistledown to leeward.

Relieved of her top hamper, she staggered erect, dripping like a half tide rock and shaken with the shock of the seas pounding her sides. Halfway on the upward oscillation she poised, checked by the renewed onslaught of the gale as if by the impact of a material obstacle. Rags of canvas streamed from her empty yards. Every wire of her rigging twanged and stretched under the strain.

The deck round the mainmast heaved and was starred with white fissures running along its well oiled planks. The heavy steel spar dimpled on one side, then buckled and crashed overboard in a tangle of wreckage.

The ends of severed wire whipped the air, and twisted shrouds sawed to and fro along the ruined bulwarks and struck showers of sparks from the tortured iron work. The hatch covers were stripped from their coverings, boats smashed to firewood and all the intricate superstructure of the vessel swept and broken. Shouted orders were blown back, inaudible to the men cowering under the break of the poop, and useless if audible.

What seamanship could contrive was done. Men worked for their lives, finding a foothold on the sea swept deck, hacking the jagged ends of iron wire. But the day of cutting wreckage adrift is gone with wooden spars and hempen cordage. Although the plates gaped and rivets started, the heavy spar held fast alongside, pounding against the iron hull as she rolled in that trough of the sea.

A couple of spare spars were lashed together and launched with infinite danger through the gap in the broken bulwarks. But no improvised sea anchor could hold her to windward amid the tumult of such a sea. She was no longer a ship, but a ruined fabric, crushed and sagging to leeward under the weight of the elements.

Morning brought an abatement of the fury of the gale. Standing on the poop, surveying her shattered hulk, her skipper turned quietly to his mate and asked, "Is the port lifeboat seaworthy?"

"Carpenter reports that it is, sir," replied his subordinate.

The skipper stood for awhile in silence, noting the sluggish life of the deck under his feet. "Suppose we've got to leave her," he said. "What d'ye think?"

It is the sole occasion where the master mariner will deign to consult and be advised by his inferior officer.

"She can't float much longer, sir," replied the other sympathetically. It might be that in his time he, too, would require to seek similar advice.

"Ah," said the skipper heavily, "and I saw her launched." He crossed over to the teak life rail and laid his hand on it, fondling it affectionately. "All right, mister," he said at last. "We're right in the track of shipping. Pass the word along to put a bag of biscuit aboard and fill the breakers with water."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Short and to the Point.

One of the shortest speeches recorded in forensic annals is that of Taunton, afterward a judge. Charles Phillips, an Irish orator, had made a flowery speech in an assault case.

Taunton, who was for the defendant, said in reply, "My friend's eloquent complaint amounts, in plain English, to this—that his client has received a good, sound horsewhipping—and my defense is as short—that he richly deserved it."

The Boy and the Bear.

"Have you ever heard the story of Algy and the bear?" asked a boy of his father. "It's very short. 'Algy met a bear, the bear was bulgy; the bulge was Algy.'"—London News.

I do not know of any way so sure of making others happy as being so one's self.

THE STAGE DRINK.

Some Sarcastic Comments Upon Its Terrific Potency.

What we have always noticed about the stage drink is its terrific potency. That there are other points of interest in this thing we do not deny, and we are inclined to agree with a writer in one of the weekly papers who says that "our actors, even the best and most experienced of them, haven't the faintest notion of how to drink naturally and with the air of men who are enjoying the process." And we have frequently noted that curious unspillable quality in the musical comedy drink. In this particular type of potation, which is set to music and which we may call the gay drink, the careless gestures of the flagon holders, who do not actually drink until they have waved the goblet upside down, have been known to make strong and thirsty galleries burst into tears, commingled with reproaches. When falsely accused Frederick suffers a momentary attack of depression and decides to set out for territories exclusively canine he pours into a small liquor glass a little very pale brandy and, with a desperate cry of frenzy and despair, drinks it at one go. Sometimes it is half a glass of noncorporeal claret. But the result is the same. Falsely accused Frederick, instantly starts his Apache dance with the grand pianoforte, and friends who believed in him, entering at that moment, say, "Good heavens, he's drunk!" The drink is potent. It cannot always be a case of weakness of head.—London Globe.

No Beggars in Copenhagen.

Copenhagen is a city of 500,000 inhabitants. During a week's stay I have seen no seller of matches or boot laces, no gutter merchant, no blind or other afflicted persons about the streets asking for alms—not one single sign of distress due to poverty. I have explored the artisans' quarters by day and late at night. There is not a single spot in the whole of Copenhagen that could be compared even remotely to the slums in our large towns. There are no unemployed hanging about the street corners, no unkempt women standing idly at the doors, no ragged and dirty children playing in the gutter. There are no dirty houses, with dirty or broken windows, mended with bits of paper, and a ragged apron or a torn bedcloth doing duty for a curtain.—Denmark Letter in London Express.

An Effective Alarm.

Flannigan had been discharged from the artillery and went to live in a cottage in his native village. One day he left on a week's visit to some distant relatives, and a day later the village constable was standing at his door when he heard the sudden boom of the rusty cannon Flannigan had mounted on his front hedge.

An instant later a brick whizzed past the constable's ear and smashed his door to smithereens. The indignant officer, followed by the populace, rushed to Flannigan's cottage and found it still tenantless, but showing signs of recent burglary.

When Flannigan returned the next week he heard the news and was delighted. "Oh prepared for burglars afore Oi went away," he said, "by thraintin' the gun on yer front door, constable, and connecting it by sacket wires to the doors and windies and loading it wid a brick. An' it hit the door slap in the middle? Bedad, Oi wasn't a gunlayer in the artillery for nothin'!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Why Hale Would Not Do.

When N. O. Nelson, the profit sharer, decided to transfer his co-operative business from St. Louis to the country he looked about carefully for a favorable location. His personal friend Dr. Edward Everett Hale accompanied him on one of his tours in search of this. A site was chosen, and a name for it was then in order. Among others, Hale was considered, but rejected because, as Mr. Nelson said, "the name differs from its distinguished owner in being only four letters long, while he was six feet four or thereabouts." So Leclair was chosen in honor of the pioneer French profit sharer.—World's Work.

Teakwood.

The world's supply of teak comes from Siam, Burma, India and Java. Teakwood is not attacked by the white ant, which is so destructive to other woods in the tropics, and teak is thus largely used in Siam for the building of the better class of wooden houses.

A good many Illinois people who are invited to help celebrate Illinois Day naturally ask why it is not held on Lincoln's birthday.
